

Tamer Shaker

Dr. Tamer Shaker obtained his Bachelor of Science degree in Genetics, Cell Biology and Development and a Doctorate of Medicine degree from the University of Minnesota. He completed his General Surgery Residency at Michigan State University in Grand Rapids, Michigan in 2019. Presently, he is completing his fellowship in liver, pancreas, kidney and auto-islet cell transplantation at the University of Minnesota.

He currently has ongoing research projects in living donor hepatectomy outcomes, outcomes from various induction immunotherapy and risk factors associated with development of Post transplant lymphoproliferative disorder and Graft versus Host Disease.