

Ms. Sadhana Shankar

MBBS MS MRCS(Edin) FRCS(Edin) D.Chiru(Fr)

Senior Clinical Fellow, Institute of HPB and Liver Transplant Surgery
King's College Hospital, London, UK

Ms. Shankar is a Senior Clinical Fellow in HPB and Liver Transplant surgery at King's college hospital, London. She completed her basic medical and postgraduate training in general surgery at Madras Medical College, Chennai, India. She trained in HPB Surgery and Liver Transplantation in Chennai for two years under the mentorship of Prof. Mohamed Rela. She went on to complete her higher surgical training in HPB and Liver Transplantation at King's College Hospital, London and was awarded FRCS from the Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh. She was awarded the University Diploma in Upper GI Minimal Access Surgery from L'Université de Strasbourg, France.

Ms Shankar has authored around 15 publications in peer reviewed journals and also has 2 book chapters to her credit. She has presented in several national and international conferences and received "best research paper" award at LTSICON and IHPBA. She has also received the "Young Investigator Award" at ILTS 2022.

Currently, she is involved in research on machine perfused grafts, de novo malignancy following liver transplantation, outcomes of redo-liver transplantation and metastatic liver disease. Her areas of interest include Neuroendocrine Tumors, Transplant oncology, Machine perfusion and Pediatric Liver Transplantation.